Elvis is Alive.....It will leave you Spellbound...and wanting more.

Elvis rose from the bench, walked slowly across the well manicured walkway, and came to a stop at the foot of several gravestones. Minnie, Elvis, Vernon, Jessie, Gladys, and Ebony's double.... In times past, this had always been an excruciating and unbearably painful experience. His very soul cried out, his heart breaking to the point where he feared that he would surely die. Certainly he would drop where he stood, or fall over as he knelt. This time, however, as he stood and waited for the pain and the tears to come streaming down his face, waiting for the ground to come rushing up as he fell to his knees, he realized that neither was happening. Hadn't he spoken to his beloved mother only hours ago? How radiant she looked in the fullness of health, and how supremely joyous she was. . He now found himself giggling out loud, struggling to fight a full blown belly laugh. It wasn't every day that one stood at the foot of his own grave. That's right. His very own grave. But the urge to get going rose within him again. There was no reason for him to remain here-he had a job to do.
