There are many questions in the Bible. Some of them are answered and some are not. This study stems from some of those questions. This book is intended to whet the appetite of the reader especially if one is new to Bible study. It is intended to cause the natural thought process to develop beyond this study. In this book the stories of two very different men are examined. The first was not even yet a man when the author began his story. He was a boy of 17 years. He went through many trials, but all along he knew that God was with him. Through trials and temptations he was faithful to God. After years of trials God exalted this faithful servant. The other man was very different. We know very little about him. He was a prophet of God. God wanted to offer mercy to a city of murderous people but this preacher despised them and didn't want God to show them mercy. At the end this runaway preacher was a reluctant evangelist. Sarah Jane Conaway has been a Christian for over 53 years. In that time she has taught Sunday school and ladies classes. She has also taught classes on how to teach Sunday school. She has counseled ladies on how they should be a wife and mother. She and her husband were missionaries in the South Pacific for 16 years. Their ministry moved to Mexico where she is ministering with 2 of her 3 sons. Her husband Ron went to be with the Lord in 2005 but she and her oldest son, Eric, have continued the ministry."
