French text:

Late January 1944, the trap comes to close on several large German units including the Wiking Division and the Walloon volunteers. For three weeks, in the middle of the cold and the snow, under the fire of frustration, abandoning their equipment, a good part of the encircled troops will succeed to get out of the Pocket in appalling conditions, most crossing the icy waters of the Glinoi Tikisch. This book follows day by day, with maps, the evolution of the Pocket, from January 27 to February 17, 1944. The second part of the book discusses these weeks of revelation through testimonies of veterans of the Wiking Division and Walloon volunteers.
