PROVING HER INNOCENCE: A ROMANCE BETWEEN 18 YEAR OLD RYAN AND 25 YEAR OLD LADY FELON Gavin Black

How an 18 year old kid tries to prove the innocence of a lady felon?

Have you ever wondered if your life was preplanned long before you were ever born, or does it simply fall into place randomly by a series of choices that either you or someone else makes that directly or indirectly effects the outcome of your existence? That is a question that has pretty much plagued mankind since the beginning of time, and yet we still have not been able to reach a consensus on the answer. I am Gavin Black and like everyone else, I have formed my own opinion on the subject, but instead of sharing it with you directly, I ask instead that you read my story, and from there you can decide for yourself what you believe to be true.

Well this story is about the events happened in the life of a high school senior teen Ryan Foster and 25 year old Melody Farnsworth, the lady felon whom he met in jail while volunteering. Although she is 7 years older than him, he falls in love with her during his visits in jail. Though she's in jail for some white collar fraud, Ryan's intuition says she's innocent and he uses his vast knowledge about computer, satellite and radio waves with his brains to prove her innocence. Will be she proven "innocent"? If so, will she ever repay for his act of kindness? Will she be able to love him in return?

This is a love story written from the perspective a male protagonist of the romance story so this story can be included in the "stories for boys" section
